Sacramento Pike was considered of election, and so did not vote.

Salmon: "Those in favor of Sacramento Perch.—Trout, Stickleback, Viviparous Perch."

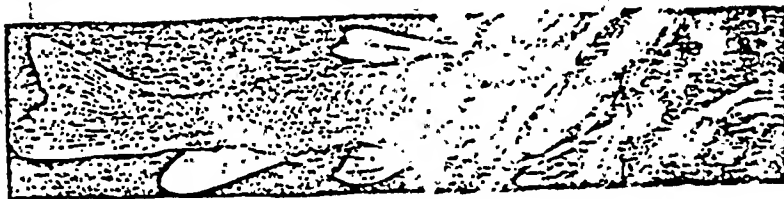

"Those in favor of Mountain Sculpin.—Primarily Sculpin, Mountain Sculpin."

Sucker did not vote. He had been elected by Sacramento Pike to vote for him, and it would be going to treason to vote for a fish having teeth in his mouth.

"Sacramento Pike is the choice of the convention. He will please come forward and take charge of the meeting."

And all the minnows stood on their heads or tipped their fins in applause as Sacramento Pike took the place of Quinnet Salmon.

Chairman (gaping his mouth in acknowledgment of honor accorded him, whereupon Roach and Dace sojourned on grass near shore): "The purpose of this meeting is to give our knowledge of each other [the trout, sculpin, and Dace thought they were already too well known by the fact that they introduced new members, and to provide for the future. According to custom, each species, through its representative, will give an account of itself, where it has taken up their residence in the basin since the last meeting, and bring up any other matter that may be of consideration. You will please speak, without being interrupted, in the order in which your names occur in the list. Check-list. The time is now at your disposal."

WESTERN SUCKER.

Western Sucker: "You may always know me by my big warty lips. Only suckers have such lips, and my species is the only sucker that travels over the entire Sacramento Basin; therefore I need give no further description of myself."

Veterans from Yards

I will not give anyone in my life
the least inkling that I am a deserter.
The only heroes who were of the Vietnam era are those who resisted and opposed fighting in it.
The only Vietnam War veterans worthy of being heroes are those who admit the morality of the United States in this war has exposed our current violence in Latin America. It is time our society learned the use of violent resistance and the use of violence.
